Cooperativa Agrícola de Sant Josep de Bot

The “Cooperativa Agrícola de Sant Josep de Bot” was created on the year 1944. From its origins to nowadays 350 partner companies joined which 275 of them are wine producers. The oenologist of the Cooperative is controlling all the members vineyards and mainly during the harvesting.

There are a total of 563 hectares of terrain dedicated exclusively to the wine production for the “Cooperativa Agrícola de Sant Josep de Bot”. The average production of grapes is of 3.000.000 Kg / year from which finally are bottled only 200.000 units, from young to "crianza" wines. This guarantees a high quality, not only because of the terrain allocation and its organoleptical properties but also thanks to the great control from all the producers that are always looking for the best quality for its grapes and never considering quantities as the main fact.

The grapes are handpicked at their optimal point of ripeness and are separately vinified. After taking the stems off and crushing then cold maceration, followed by fermentation under a controlled temperature of 17 °C in order to preserve the aromatic potential as far as possible. Before bottling, all the products are stabilized in a way causing the minimum negative impact on the wine.

During the last 2 years the “Cooperativa” made the biggest investment in order to get the maximum quality from all points of view: new winery machines and stocking methods, better grapes quality, last technologies and new machinery, and new image for a better promotion of all its products. This allowed them to obtain recognized national and international awards.
